MEMORANDUM

TO: THE FIRST CARIBBEAN INTERNATIONAL BANK

FROM: THE ATTORNEY GENERAL, HON. STEADROY BENJAMIN

RE: WAIVER OF REQUIREMENT TO REGISTER / CHINA POWER COMPANY

DATE: September 25, 2019

- The China Power Company (CPC) is a Chinese firm doing business in Antigua and Barbuda at the request of the Government of the People's Republic of China. The Chinese firm was awarded a contract by the Government of the People's Republic of China to build two polyclinics in Antigua at Wilikies and Villa. The China Power Company is desirous of operating a checking account in Antigua so that it may pay local workers and purchase supplies from merchants in Antigua.
- 2. The China Power Company has expressed a preference to receive a lawful waiver of a conditional requirement, under the Companies Act, to register the firm as a local firm, or to register the firm as a foreign firm doing business in Antigua and Barbuda. The waiver is conditioned upon the firm agreeing to abide by the laws of Antigua and Barbuda governing banking and corporations, with the Intellectual Property Office, if it chooses to operate by waiver.
- 3. I therefore grant the waiver permitted by law, allowing the China Power Company to operate a checking account, and waiving the requirement for this firm to be registered with the Intellectual Property Office.

EASTERN CARIBBEAN SUPREME COURT

(SENTENCING GUIDELINES) RULES 2019

PRACTICE DIRECTION 8A NO. 1 OF 2019

GENERAL SENTENCING PRINCIPLES

This Practice Direction is made pursuant to rule 7(1) of the Eastern Caribbean Supreme Court (Sentencing Guidelines) Rules 2019 and supplements rule 8(2).

INTRODUCTION

This Practice Direction highlights the importance of the court giving reasons when sentencing, the factors which the court should take into consideration and how these should be included as part of the sentencing remarks.

THE IMPORTANCE OF GIVING REASONS

All sentences must be clearly expressed and the reasoning given. Factors taken into consideration, whether as aggravating or mitigating, should be set out as part of the sentencing remarks. Any departure from the guidelines must be explained as part of the reasoning. In particular, the court must ensure that there is no element of double counting, meaning that a factor taken into account at one step should not then be taken into account again at a later step.

LIST OF RELEVANT FACTORS

Below is a non-exhaustive list of relevant factors to which the court must have regard.

1. Credit for an early guilty plea¹

An early guilty plea is in the public interest and should attract credit of one-third. It is the duty of defence counsel to tell an offender about this. In addition an offender should be told it by the court on first appearance. A late plea of guilty will usually attract significantly less credit. Reasons must be given if the court decides to give no or reduced credit.

2. Sentence indication

The court may give a formal indication of sentence prior to plea if sought by the defence. The relevant procedure is described in ECSC Practice Direction No. 2 of 2015². The court should only give this indication if it is appropriate in all the circumstances and the usual principles of sentencing must be applied.

3. Totality

- 3.1 The principle of totality requires a court, when sentencing for more than one offence, to pass a sentence that reflects the total criminality but which is just and proportionate so that the sentence does not exceed what is necessary to reflect the overall offending behaviour. This principle applies regardless of whether the offences form a single episode of criminality or two or more separate acts of criminality.
- 3.2A sentencing court must, however, take care when applying the totality principle. Public confidence in the administration of justice requires the Court to explain clearly why it has taken a particular approach to multiple sentences.
- 3.3 The court's first task is to consider the appropriate sentence for each individual offence applying the relevant guideline. Secondly, it must decide whether the sentences should be made to run concurrently or consecutively. Finally, the court will then assess the overall sentence for justness and proportionality, adjusting the sentence accordingly.

4. Multiple Offending in One Count or Charge

Sentences should be increased, even into a more serious category, to reflect the number of instances of offending when it is just to do so. The principle of totality should be considered.

5. Concurrent and Consecutive sentences

- 5.1 In cases where an offender is convicted for more than one offence tried at the same time: (i) where more than one offence is committed in the course of the same transaction or arises out of the same incident or facts, the general rule is that the sentences are to run concurrently with each other (e.g. assaulting a number of persons during a fight); and (ii) where the offences are of a similar nature and were committed over a short period of time against the same victim, sentences should normally be made to run concurrently (e.g. theft by an employee from an employer).
- 5.2 Where the offender is already serving a sentence for another offence, the court may pass a sentence of imprisonment for the subsequent offence to commence at the expiration of the previous sentence of imprisonment.
- 5.3 Where the offences were committed on separate occasions or were committed while the offender was on bail for other offences for which he was eventually convicted, or in cases involving the use of a firearm, consecutive sentences are in principle appropriate.
- 5.4 Even in cases where consecutive sentences may be ordered, when sentencing for a series of similar offences the court should usually pass a substantial sentence for the most serious offence, with shorter concurrent sentences for the less serious ones.
- 5.5 A court shall have regard to the totality principle when passing consecutive sentences.

² See the Practice Direction No. 2 of 2015 at https://www.eccourts.org/wp-content/uploads/2012/09/Sentence-Indications-re-issue-PD-No.-2-of-2015.pdf.

6. Time served on remand

Il offenders are entitled to credit for the time they have spent in custody on remand for the offence. The court shall state the precise number of days to be credited. The prison authorities, prosecution and defence practitioners must ensure that the court is furnished with accurate information relating to the time spent in custody on remand.³

7. Pre-sentence reports

Whether any report is ordered and if any recommendation is followed remains a matter for the discretion of the court. Reasons should be given when a recommendation is or is not followed. If possible, the report must consider the impact of the offence on any victim.

8. Prevalence

If there is a high incidence of a particular offence then the court is entitled to take this into account. If it affects the sentence, then reasons must be given. Prevalence can be established by taking judicial notice of local circumstance if appropriate, or by receiving evidence from local police, prosecutors, probation officers, or other appropriate persons.

9. Good character

As a general principle of sentencing, good character is a mitigating factor affecting the offender and should result in a reduction of sentence. However, there may be circumstances where the combination of aggravating factors makes the offence so abhorrent that the good character of a defendant may be insufficient to merit a reduction in sentence.

10. Bad character

In most cases, bad character, if relevant, is an aggravating factor affecting the offender and may result in an increase in sentence.

11. Voluntary intoxication

Voluntary intoxication, whether by drink or drugs, is not a mitigating factor save in exceptional circumstances, and in many cases may be aggravating.

12. Abuse of trust

Abuse of trust is an aggravating factor, particularly in sexual offences and offences of dishonesty.

13. Dangerousness

In cases involving serious physical and/or sexual violence, the court may find the offender to be 'dangerous'. The reasons for such a finding must be expressed in the sentencing remarks.

- a. Dangerousness is established by a finding that the defendant presents a significant ongoing risk of serious harm to any member of the public by the commission of future similar offences. "Serious harm" means death or serious personal injury, whether physical or psychological.
- b. The finding can only be made on the extreme facts of the current offence alone or on the combination of the current offence with previous serious offending.
- c. The court must seek a report on the issue but is not necessarily bound to follow any recommendation. Reasons for not following such a recommendation must be given as part of the sentence.
- d. If the offender is found to be 'dangerous' the court may impose a longer than commensurate sentence. If so, the court should specify the original sentence and additional term imposed to reflect the finding of dangerousness.
- e. Dangerousness should be considered at step 4 as part of the process of considering the principle of totality.

³ See Gomes v The State [2015] UKPC 8, at paragraph 12; Shonovia Thomas v The Queen BVIHCRAP2010/0006; and Romeo Da Costa Hall v The Queen [2011] CCJ 6 (AJ).

14. Assistance to the prosecuting authorities

If an offender has provided accurate and hitherto unknown information to the prosecuting authorities, enabling serious criminal activity to be stopped and criminals to be apprehended, then in accordance with the case of Ong v Regina 2012⁴ there may be a further reduction in sentence. Such information must be confirmed in evidence in camera by a senior police officer.

15. Mentally impaired offenders

Mental impairment⁵ is a relevant consideration if the offender has a diagnosed mental illness or a severe impairment. This must be supported by a report from a suitably qualified professional.

16. Delay

It may be a mitigating factor under step 2 warranting in appropriate circumstances some discount of a sentence if there has been unreasonable delay through no fault of a defendant or his legal representation between the time of charge and of sentence.

PRACTICE DIRECTION 8B NO. 2 OF 2019

THE STEPS TO CONSTRUCTING A SENTENCE

This Practice Direction is made pursuant to rule 7(1) of the Eastern Caribbean Supreme Court (Sentencing Guidelines) Rules 2019 and supplements rule 8(3).

INTRODUCTION

This Practice Direction highlights the steps which it is expected that every court must follow, with each step being identified to the offender in public before the sentence is passed.

STEP 1

Consider the seriousness of the offence. Find the starting point by consulting the guideline and the grid at stage 3 of step 1. Then adjust the figure within the range for the aggravating and mitigating factors of the offence.

STEP 2

Adjust the figure within the range for the aggravating and mitigating factors affecting the offender.

STEP 3

Adjust the figure on assessing discount for any plea of guilty, if applicable.

⁴ See Ong v Regina 2012 NZLR 258 at paragraph 13.

⁵ See The Queen v Godwin Modeste, GDAHCR2016/0064.

STEP 4

Adjust the figure on assessing the totality if sentencing for more than one offence.

STEP 5

Give credit for time served on remand.

STEP 6

Finally, consider ancillary orders, confiscation, compensation, etc.

PASSING THE SENTENCE

Having followed the steps, the court must give reasons explaining the construction of the sentence in a way that can be readily understood by the defendant, in particular justifying any departure from the guideline.

PRACTICE DIRECTION 8C NO. 3 OF 2019

WHEN TO IMPOSE A SUSPENDED SENTENCE

This Practice Direction is made pursuant to rule 7(1) of the Eastern Caribbean Supreme Court (Sentencing Guidelines) Rules 2019 and supplements rule 8(4).

INTRODUCTION

This practice direction highlights the factors to which the court must have regard when imposing a suspended sentence.

IMPOSING A SUSPENDED SENTENCE

- In certain circumstances, a sentence of imprisonment may be suspended.
- A suspended sentence remains a prison sentence and should not be passed unless a term of imprisonment is warranted. It should not be considered another form of non-custodial penalty like probation or community service.
- 3 Subject to local legislation making it permissible, it should be considered rare to suspend a sentence of more than two years' imprisonment, and rare to suspend for more than two years.
- The court may consider the following non-exhaustive list of factors in exercising its discretion whether to suspend a sentence:
 - a. Can appropriate punishment only be achieved by immediate custody?

- b. Does the offender present a risk or danger to the public or to the victim?
- c. Has there been a history of poor compliance with court orders?
- d. Is there a realistic prospect of rehabilitation?
- e. If sentencing a person under 21, is there a realistic prospect that incarceration will so affect an offender as to turn that person more towards criminality and less toward rehabilitation?
- f. Is there strong personal mitigation?
- g. What will be the impact of an immediate custodial sentence on dependent relatives, employees, and the community?
- When suspending imprisonment, the offender must be clearly told of the consequences of further offending during the period of suspension. In certain jurisdictions, this may mean the automatic imposition of the term suspended. If imposed, the court must consider whether the term is concurrent or consecutive, in whole or in part, to the sentence for the later offending. The principle of totality should always be considered.

EASTERN CARIBBEAN SUPREME COURT (SENTENCING GUIDELINES) RULES 2019

PRACTICE DIRECTION 8D NO. 4 OF 2019

SENTENCING PRINCIPLES CONCERNING PERSONS BELOW 18

This Practice Direction is made pursuant to rule 7(1) of the Eastern Caribbean Supreme Court (Sentencing Guidelines) Rules 2019 and supplements rule 8(5).

INTRODUCTION

This practice direction highlights the consideration the court must have when sentencing persons below the age of 18 and how these must be applied in determining sentence.

FACTORS TO BE CONSIDERED BY THE COURT

- 1. When sentencing children or young persons as at the date of the offence a court must have regard to:
 - the principal aim, to prevent offending by children and young persons;
 - the aim of rehabilitation; and
 - the welfare of the child or young person.
- 2. In cases involving an offender who was a child at the date of offence, the court should reduce the sentence to at most half of the appropriate term for an adult to reflect their youth and immaturity.
- 3. In cases involving young persons under 18 at the date of the offence, the court should reduce the sentence to at most two-thirds of the term appropriate for an adult offender to reflect their age and immaturity.
- 4. A custodial sentence should always be a measure of last resort for children and young persons and a custodial sentence may only be imposed when the offence is so serious that no other sanction is appropriate.
- 5. It is important to avoid "criminalising" children and young persons unnecessarily. The primary purpose of sentencing children or young persons is to encourage them to take responsibility for their own actions and promote reintegration into society rather than to punish.

- 6. Whilst the seriousness of the offence will be important, the approach to sentencing should focus more on the individual offender, rather than the offence. For a child or young person the court should focus on rehabilitation where possible. A court should also consider the effects the sentence is likely to have on the child or young person (both positive and negative) as well as any underlying factors contributing to the offending behaviour.
- 7. Any restriction on liberty must be commensurate with the seriousness of the offence. In considering the seriousness of any offence, the court must consider the child or young person's culpability in committing the offence and any harm which the offence caused, was intended to cause, or might foreseeably have caused.
- 8. It is also important to bear in mind any factors that may diminish the culpability of a child or young person. The court should consider the extent to which any child or young person has been acting impulsively and whether their conduct has been affected by inexperience, emotional volatility or negative influences. They may not fully appreciate the effect their actions can have on other people and may not be capable of fully understanding the distress and pain they cause to the victims of their crimes. Children and young persons are also likely to be susceptible to peer pressure and other external influences, and changes taking place during adolescence can lead to experimentation resulting in criminal behaviour. When considering a child or young person's age, their emotional and developmental age is of at least equal importance to their chronological age (if not greater).
- 9. For these reasons, children and young persons are likely to benefit from being given an opportunity to address their behaviour and may be receptive to changing their conduct. They should, if possible, be given the opportunity to learn from their mistakes without undue penalisation or stigma, especially as a court sanction might have a significant effect on the educational or employment prospects of the child or young person.
- 10. Offending by a child or young person is often a phase which passes fairly rapidly and so the sentence should not result in the alienation of the child or young person from society if that can be avoided.
- 11. The impact of punishment is likely to be felt more heavily by a child or young person in comparison to an adult as any sentence will seem longer due to their young age. In addition, incarceration may interfere with a child or young person's education and this should be considered by a court at sentencing.
- 12. In having regard to the welfare of the child or young person, a court should ensure that it is alert to:
 - any mental health problems or learning difficulties/disabilities;
 - any experiences of brain injury or traumatic life experience (including exposure to drug and alcohol abuse) and the developmental impact this may have had;
 - any speech and language difficulties and the effect this may have on the ability of the child or young person (or any accompanying adult) to communicate with the court, to understand the sanction imposed or to fulfil the obligations resulting from that sanction;
 - the vulnerability of children and young persons to self-harm, particularly within a custodial environment; and
 - the effect on children and young persons of experiences of loss, neglect and abuse.
- 13. Factors regularly present in the background of children and young persons that come before the court include deprived homes, poor parental employment records, low educational attainment, early experience of offending by other family members, experience of abuse and/or neglect, negative influences from peer associates and the misuse of drugs and/or alcohol. The court should always seek to ensure that it has access to information about how best to identify and respond to these factors and, where necessary, that a proper assessment has taken place in order to enable the most appropriate sentence to be imposed.
- 14. The court should consider the reasons why, on some occasions, a child or young person may conduct themselves inappropriately in court (e.g. due to nervousness, a lack of understanding of the system, a belief that they will be discriminated against, peer pressure to behave in a certain way because of others present, a lack of maturity, etc) and take this into account.

- 15. When considering a child or young person who may be particularly vulnerable, a sentencing judge should consider which available disposal is best able to support the child or young person and which disposals could potentially exacerbate any underlying issues. This is particularly important when considering custodial sentences as there are concerns about the effect on vulnerable children and young persons of being in closed conditions, with significant risks of self-harm, including suicide.
- 16. These principles do not undermine the fact that the sentence should reflect the seriousness of the offence. Further guidance on assessing the seriousness of an offence can be found in the specific offence guideline.
